GRAND HOTEL BELVEDERE

THE SWISS ALPS IN ALL THEIR NATURAL SPLendor

IN A WORD

At the farthest reaches of the Bernese Oberland, Grand Hotel Belvedere is reborn. As the first acquisition of the Beaumier group in Switzerland, it reveals a hidden beauty: the village of Wengen, overlooking the Lauterbrunnen Valley. The very same valley that inspired Romantic artists and their heirs, such as J. R. R. Tolkien, before becoming a cradle of skiing and a prime destination for hiking, favored by the English aristocracy.

Today, all the pleasures of the peaks, all the sensations they offer, both winter and summer, are gathered in one single place.

ROOMS & SUITES

Grand Hotel Belvedere features 90 rooms and suites, recently fully renovated, with a design that harmoniously blends contemporary lines with alpine heritage.

ARCHITECTURE

From their first visits to the site, the Swiss architects from Complete Works, Crausaz Tremblay and Clavien & Associates were captivated by the sweeping views of the Jungfrau, as well as the Heimatstil and Art Nouveau remnants in the lounges. These elements, which inspire respect, guided the design of a lasting project.

The result? After months of construction, the early 20th-century decorative elements have been reintroduced into the restaurant and lobby spaces. Just like the views from the terraces, balconies, and windows: hypnotic.

In the 90 rooms and suites, these elements inspire a «bridge» concept: the environment defines the decor. Everywhere, through a minimalist and grounded scenography, respect for local traditions takes center stage. Handcrafted carpets, custom pine furniture, wood paneling, lime-washed walls, serpentine green bathrooms, and thick wool textiles... all create clean, cocoon-like spaces in direct connection with the mountain.

The same sense of communion with the surrounding nature is felt from the spa, which evokes the essence of an onsen. Created from scratch between the two buildings, this brutalist concrete structure blends seamlessly into the surroundings, offering views over the hotel's gardens and forests.

ARNAUD CHRISTIN AND VALÉRY CLAVIEN

« Above all, it was essential for us to respect the alpine construction logic of that time, particularly in the design of all the furniture, custom-made from simple wooden elements, as tradition dictated. »

Arnaud Christin, Complete Works

« Even the spa, although entirely created from scratch, blends into the surroundings, like a brutalist relic that nature has gradually reclaimed. »

Valéry Clavien, Clavien & Associés

SPA

Inspired by Japanese onsens, the spa at Grand Hotel Belvedere embodies the art of relaxation. Its minimalist design and mineral materials create the perfect setting for total relaxation. In perfect harmony with its surroundings, this wellness sanctuary in Wengen offers exceptional treatments by Susanne Kaufmann.

Created from organic and natural Alpine ingredients, this range stands out for its exceptional concentration of active ingredients, ensuring optimal results.

The spa features four treatment rooms (including one double), a sauna, a hammam, a relaxation room with a view of the Jungfrau, as well as a heated indoor/outdoor pool and a cold plunge.

SUSANNE KAUFMANN

"At Susanne Kaufmann, we believe that nature holds the key to true wellbeing. Our partnership with Grand Hotel Belvedere in Wengen is a celebration of the deep connection between the breathtaking Lauterbrunnen Valley and our skincare philosophy. Just as the surrounding Alpine summits stand tall, resilient, and in harmony with nature, our formulas are powered by the purest botanicals that provide your skin with protection, resilience, and repair."

After their treatment, guests are invited to extend their moment of serenity in the relaxation room, where they can sip an herbal tea while admiring the spectacular view of the Jungfrau. They can then immerse themselves in the pool, surrounded by the hotel's gardens and the nearby forest.

YURT WELLNESS PROGRAMME

In the gardens of the Grand Hotel Belvedere, on the edge of the forest, stands a heated yurt, dedicated to aligning body and mind. Drawing on ancient traditions of care and reconnection, the Yurt Wellness Programme offers a weekly schedule designed to match the rhythm of the mountains.

Vinyasa Yoga Flow, Pilates, Yin Yoga, Yoga Nidra, meditation, recovery after skiing or hiking, stretching, yoga for children at the weekend... each session is like an inner journey, guided by the warmth and presence of the elements. Movements are slow and intentional, time stands still. Facing the peaks, nature reclaims its place. And the silence of the Alps takes care of the rest.

Classes are by reservation and offered to guests in the morning.

GASTRONOMY

BRASSERIE BELVEDERE

The Grand Hotel Belvedere restaurant in Wengen boldly reinvents the brasserie. With Art Nouveau touches, Heimatstil spirit, inventive mountain cuisine and an 80s/90s soundtrack, you can dine on your own terms – share dishes or savour them solo. Refined, convivial and vibrant, this is the essence of modern Alpine living.

The bars, more intimate, offer an English-style atmosphere with a late-day menu (infusions, Swiss wines and spirits, cocktails...).

GASTRONOMY

SONNENBAD LOUNGE & TERRACE

At the Sonnenbad Lounge & Terrace, enjoy light snacks, Alpine classics and wood-fired grills, on the terrace facing the Jungfrau or in our cosy lounges. Whether it's a leisurely lunch or quick bite, a sunny aperitif or gourmet snack, the Sonnenbad caters to every mood.

«Seasonal products, sourced within a 100 km radius or picked locally, and responsible practices, combined with a deep and sincere desire to please... This is a mindful cuisine, respectful of the surroundings and our guests, that we offer in our establishments.»

Will Gordon, Chef at Grand Hotel Belvedere

EXPERIENCES

At Grand Hotel Belvedere, body and mind go hand in hand. Taking care of both is essential.

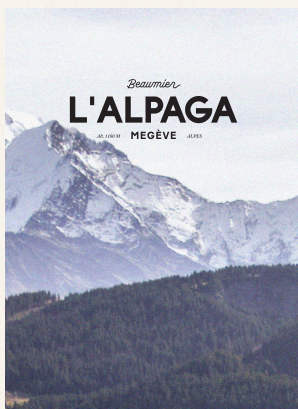

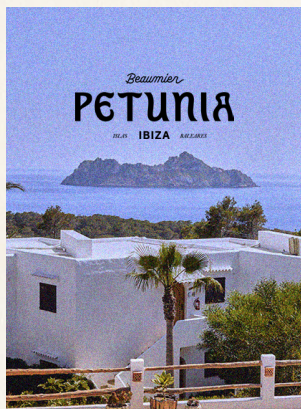

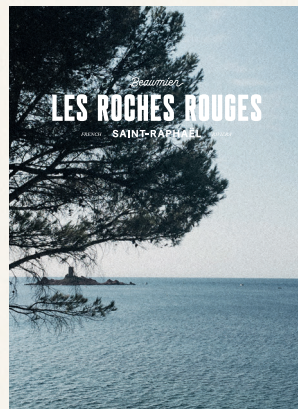

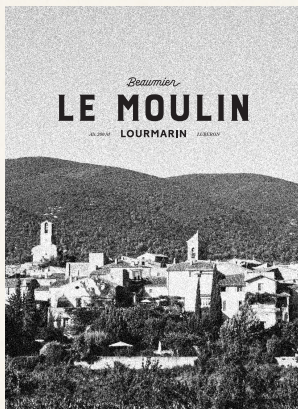

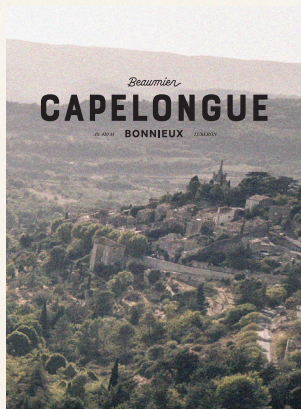

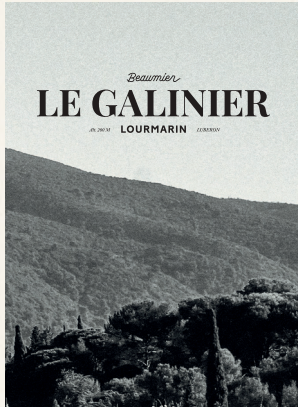

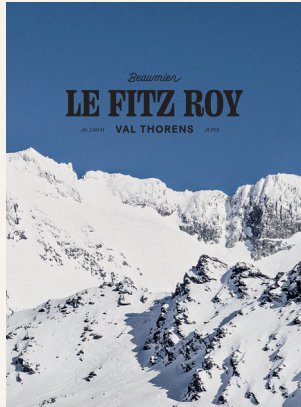

In the spa, of course, one of the hotel's standout features, with views of the Jungfrau, treatments, sauna, hammam, and an indoor and outdoor pool. And with its yurt in the gardens, where a weekly wellness programme is offered combining yoga, meditation and holistic practices in tune with the rhythm of the mountains.

But also, beyond the hotel, immersed in nature, with opportunities for sports activities, both in winter and summer: trail running in the snow, glacier climbing, ski hiking with a guide... or outdoor yoga sessions, downhill mountain biking, canyoning...

Not to mention the cultural escapes offered by Lake Thun, the Paul Klee Center, the Ballenberg Museum..., or simply basking in the sun on the balcony, with a book in hand.

The Beaumier group currently operates ten hotels in Europe.

BEAUMIER

Far from postcards and international standards, Beaumier takes each of its destinations in the countryside as an opportunity to rewrite a tailor-made story, full of relevance, with the help of a passionate collective. Each hotel transports its guests into its immediate environment. From the snow-capped peaks of the French or Swiss Alps to the sunlit shores of the Mediterranean, and through the beauty of Provence, Beaumier shapes the contours of a sensitive luxury, blending the pursuit of authenticity, a deep sense of hospitality, and ethics.
